FOR USE OF WAR GAS

Story From Warsaw Says Germans Were Deceived by Their Officers.

LONDON, June 14 .- A Warsaw dispatch to the Times describing the use by the Germans of an asphyxiating gas

"Evidence exists indicating that the German soldiers protested against the use of gas, but their officers told them the gas was quite harmless and would only render the Russians unconscious without unduly harming them and that the Germans could then walk over and occupy their trenches without the loss of a single man.

Confident of Success.

"Behind the gas went German sappers to cut the Russian barbed wires. WASHINGTON TO PHILADELPHIA.
